

ADVERB / VERB COMBINATION

Positive

Fervidly espouse/Vehemently endorses/ Zealously assist / Passionately advocate / Glowingly praise – Wholeheartedly support.

Welcome ♥

Negative

Scathingly Berate - condemn

Fearfully contemplate – feel threatened while examining a particular situation/action

Vigorously/Emphatically/Scathingly condemn/Disparagingly denounce – disapprove wholeheartedly and forcefully

Despairingly condemn – hopelessly disapprove

Indignantly rebuke – Disapprove of someone unjust.

Unwaveringly despondent – Fixed in a loss of hope.

Emphatically/Virulently/Vigorously /Stridently excoriate – criticise severely

Jarringly Vilify/Undermine – make the opposition immediately disparaged and lose their worth

Belligerently refute – Aggressively disprove a statement.

Satirical

Candidly deride – Straightforwardly ridicule

Derisively mock – Completely ridicule someone/something.

Satirically disparage – Satirically reduce the status of someone.

Neutral

Forthrightly/Authoritatively/Stridently/Harshly assert/declare – Posit strongly

Emphatically analogising the conflict to a war-like battlefield – clearly compare to a war-like battlefield.

Systematically outline – Chronologically examine.

Pointedly accentuate – to emphasise something bad.

Overtly/Blatantly injudicious – A clearly unwise decision.

BONUS ADVERBS / VERBS

- › Ardently – passionately
- › Ominously - scary
- › Three Rs – Refute (1 + 1 does NOT equal 3), Rebuke (criticising a person), Repudiate (criticising an idea)

SENTENCE STARTERS

- ◆ (Author)
- ◆ Here, Melissa underscores...
- ◆ Indeed, ...
- ◆ Make sure to keep pushing yourself. In doing so, you will achieve success.
- ◆ In this way...
- ◆ In a blunt and almost brusque way, Wiley brings readers back to reality
- ◆ Given the daunting connotations of the word 'hate', Mikail...
- ◆ Not only is driving off the road illegal, it is downright dangerous.
- ◆ As such, Ejren highlights the power of...
- ◆ To this end / Ultimately, Wiley highlights...
- ◆ From the outset, ...
- ◆ In conjunction / In tandem with the alliterative 'p' in 'powerful play', John's compositionally dominating adjacent image establishes an ominous sense of fear within ...
- ◆ Accordingly, /Therefore/Thus
- ◆ Hence, In turn
- ◆ Despite/notwithstanding the health implications, some people still choose to cliff jump

WORDS LIKE HIGHLIGHT

- ✓ Highlights
- ✓ Exemplifies
- ✓ Underscores
- ✓ Elucidates
- ✓ Illustrates
- ✓ Showcases
- ✓ Presents
- ✓ Emphasis
- ✓ Reinforces
- ✓ Establishes
- ✓ Manifests

INTRODUCTION

4 Steps of Introduction

(1) Broader Implications

(2) Contention

(3) Audience and Image

(4) Call to Action

Template

Ubiquitous within modern society lies the need to..., bringing into question whether ...

In light of this, John Wick (adverb) contends that as it poses... within his article entitled "...".

Appealing directly towards ..., Wick supplements his piece with an image of ... in order to substantiate his piece.

Ultimately, Wick (adverb) calls for individuals to (contention) ... as only then can ...

EXAMPLE:

Ubiquitous within modern society lies the need for individuals to be cognisant of the environment due to its potentially fatal consequences, bringing into question whether or not legislators should enforce harsher penalties on wexters. In light of this, Bob stridently contends that 'wexting' must be abolished as it poses fatal consequences upon those who partake in it within his opinion piece entitled "John Wick 3". Appealing directly towards legislators, youth, and pedestrians, Bob ominously supplements his piece with an image of a young female walking on the footpath whilst using her phone in order to substantiate her piece. Ultimately, Bob zealously calls for individuals to abort wexting as only then can true happiness emerge.

SHEPHERDING

TOPIC SENTENCE 1

From the outset, the author (adverb) begins their piece by (adverb) presenting a (type of argument), (adverb) highlighting ..., to predispose (PREPARE) the audience to the subsequent arguments

EXAMPLE:

From the outset, ABU HALEEB wholeheartedly begins their piece by forthrightly presenting a community-based argument zealously highlighting the importance of sacrifice in the medical profession, to predispose medical staff to his subsequent arguments.

EXAMPLE:

From the outset, Mick wholeheartedly begins her piece by candidly presenting a medicalbased argument, passionately highlighting the health benefits that come out of swimming, to predispose VCE students to her subsequent arguments.

TYPES OF ARGUMENT

- › Community-based argument - social, people
- › Fiscal argument - financial
- › Sentimental argument - reminding you of the past
- › Logistics argument - systems behind how to make something a reality
- › Environmental argument - environment
- › Medical-based argument - health-based
- › Legalistic argument - laws
- › Cogent argument – logical, intuitive
- › Didactic argument - moral / values argument

LINKING SENTENCE 1

Ultimately, the (author) (adverb) commences their piece by shepherding them into a heightened state of ... by establishing ...

EXAMPLE:

Ultimately, the Art and Media Club vehemently commences their piece by shepherding them into a heightened state of joy and reminiscence by establishing their outstanding connection with the new library and the monumental impacts of the old library on generations.

SUBSTANTIATING

Shifting from an (adverb) (verb) to a (adverb) (verb) demeanour/tone
(author) (adverb) substantiates their piece by (adverb) outlining/highlighting ...

EXAMPLE:

Shifting from a passionately presenting to a vigorously highlighting demeanour/tone, Khaled GPT wholeheartedly substantiates his piece by forthrightly outlining the importance of eating chocolate in an environment of healthy foods.

LINKING SENTENCE 2

In this way, the (author) (adverb) substantiates their (type of piece) by transitioning to highlighting ...

EXAMPLE:

In this way, the Art and Media Club didactically substantiates their letter by transitioning to highlighting the inconsiderate nature of the Bankswood Council in that it privileges bland offices over the creativity of the community.

MOBILISING

TOPIC SENTENCE 3

Ultimately, (author) (adverb) finalises their () piece by (adverb) calling for (type of person) to ...

EXAMPLE:

Ultimately, Rohaan fearfully finalises his passionate piece by forthrightly calling for individuals to go to Hawaii and achieve monetary success.

LINKING SENTENCE 3

To this end, author (adverb) concludes their piece by mobilising such (type of person) to recognise ...

EXAMPLE:

To this end, Wiley passionately concludes her piece by mobilising such residents to recognise the importance of the tourist attraction given the communal benefits as well as the increased care people in the town will have.

MINIMUM EFFORT, MAXIMUM BENEFIT Makes the solution seem easy to implement, lowering the audience's perceived barrier to action.

TOPIC SENTENCE 3

Ultimately, (author) (adverb) finalises their (type of piece) by (adverb) presenting a (type of argument), highlighting the minimal effort required to ... and the maximum benefit of ..., to mobilise (type of person) to ...

EXAMPLE:

Ultimately, Wiley passionately finalises her piece by forthrightly presenting a community-based argument, highlighting the minimal effort required to support the tourist attraction and the maximum communal benefit that will emerge, to mobilise Lawton residents to champion its implementation.

LINKING SENTENCE 3

To this end, (author) (adverb) concludes their piece by mobilising such (type of person) to recognise the ease of ... given the ... benefits it will provide.

EXAMPLE:

To this end, Wiley passionately concludes her piece by mobilising such residents to recognise the ease of supporting the tourist attraction given the fiscal and communal benefits it will provide.

CYCLICAL BOOKENDING STRUCTURE The author ends in a certain way which links to the beginning

TOPIC SENTENCE 3

Ultimately, by (adverb) returning to the (type of argument) established from the outset, (author) cyclically bookends their piece by (adverb) echoing ..., reinforcing ... and mobilising (type of person) to ...

EXAMPLE:

Ultimately, by passionately returning to the community-based argument established from the outset, Wiley cyclically bookends her piece by forthrightly echoing the communal importance of the tourist attraction, reinforcing its benefits and mobilising residents to champion its implementation.

LINKING SENTENCE 3

To this end, (author) (adverb) concludes their piece by cyclically returning to the (type of argument) established from the outset, reinforcing ... and mobilising such (type of person) to recognise ...

EXAMPLE:

To this end, Wiley passionately concludes her piece by cyclically returning to the community-based argument established from the outset, reinforcing the communal importance of the tourist attraction and mobilising such residents to recognise its benefits and champion its implementation.

CONCLUSION

To this end, (author's piece) (adverb) exemplifies the importance of ...

(Author) therefore seeks to influence (type of person) into not only..., but rather to ...

EXAMPLE:

To this end, Wiley's piece ardently exemplifies the importance of adopting a tourist attraction to ensure the financial prosperity of Lawton and its community members (CONTENTION). Wiley therefore seeks to influence community residents into not only reconsidering their stance on tourist attractions, but rather to champion for its implementation in the immediate future (AUDIENCE GOING TO DO).

5 STEPS OF ANALYSIS

(1) Embed the quote or image

(2) Specific audience

(3) Specific emotion – adverb verbs

(4) Why do they feel that way? Technique Analysis

(5) What are they going to do

QUOTE ANALYSIS EXAMPLE:

By wholeheartedly affirming that 'my child was hypnotised by the IPAD', Mahde seeks to position parents – who potentially care about their child's ability to be free and have clear eyesight – into feeling unwaveringly despondent since the term 'hypnotised' creates an image of paralysis. Therefore, such parents are influenced to undertake proactive measures to restrict their child's IPAD use.

IMAGE ANALYSIS EXAMPLE:

By presenting a compositionally dominating image of a visibly exhausted student surrounded by piles of unfinished schoolwork, the author seeks to position parents into feeling concerned about excessive academic pressure, since the student's slumped posture and overwhelming surroundings represent the damaging consequences of relentless expectations. Therefore, such parents are influenced to reconsider the pressure they place upon young people.

NEXT LEVEL 5 STEPS OF ANALYSIS

1) Embed the quote or image

2) Why do they feel that way? Technique Analysis

3) Specific audience

4) Specific emotion – adverb verbs

5) What are they going to do

QUOTE ANALYSIS EXAMPLE:

Cataclysmically portraying that 'studying VCE is like bleeding every single day in a world of enemies', Mariam establishes a war-like battlefield regarding the struggles of VCE and exams, since the term 'bleeding' conjures a destructive image of blood loss due to the assessments. Here / In this way, Mariam seeks to position VCE students – who potentially do not want to bleed in their studies – into wholeheartedly focusing on their VCE and as such are influenced to reconsider their stance on the importance of studying.

PERSUASIVE TECHNIQUE SETUPS

Plosive

Plosive: two words that start either with 't, k, p, OR d, g, b'

(Author) seeks to create an onomatopoeic soundscape through the plosives of ('d,b,g,t,k,p' – pick first letter) and ('d,b,g,t,k,p – pick second letter), aurally reflecting the importance of ...

EXAMPLE 1:

Farid seeks to create an onomatopoeic soundscape through the plosives of 'p' and 't' within the word 'powerfully training', aurally reflecting the importance of physical exercise in Dagestan much like Khabib.

EXAMPLE 2:

Penrose seeks to formulate an onomatopoeic soundscape through the plosives of 'p' and 't' within the words 'Phantasmagorical thoughts', aurally reflecting the importance of one's imaginative psyche, akin to Fischer who actively resides within the parameters of his dreams.

Alliteration

Alliteratively commencing with 'letter' in 'two words', (author) repetitiously underscores ..., positioning ...

EXAMPLE:

Alliteratively commencing with the letter 'a' in 'astonishing achievements', Zohair repetitiously underscores the importance of studying for VCE in the early mornings, positioning ...

Anaphora

Anaphorically highlighting that '...',
(author) repetitiously underscores ... since the term '...' imbues connotations of ...

EXAMPLE:

Anaphorically highlighting that 'you are a champion' and 'you are the best', (author) repetitiously underscores the importance of perseverance in VCE since the term 'you are' imbues connotations of direct responsibility and growth.

Rhetorical Questions

Many

Rhetorically bombarding (person) with remarks, ranging from ('rhetorical 1') to ('rhetorical 2') to ('rhetorical 3'), (author) (adverb verb) the importance of ...

EXAMPLE:

Rhetorically bombarding residents with remarks, ranging from 'how will you afford a house?' to 'are you really trying?' to 'don't your kids need you?', Khaled pointedly accentuates the importance of easing the housing crisis ...

Single

Rhetorically questioning ('rhetorical q'), (author) seeks to (adverb verb) the ...

EXAMPLE 1:

Rhetorically questioning 'can you survive without food?', Seif seeks to pointedly accentuate the damaging effects of the housing crisis and cost of living.

EXAMPLE 2:

Rhetorically questioning 'how would it feel like to be homeless?', Haseeb seeks to pointedly accentuate that homelessness is an ill experience that no person would feel inclined to feel.

IMAGERY TYPES

Visceral / Cataclysmic / Sensory Imagery

Cataclysmically portraying that '...',

(author) viscerally establishes a war-like battlefield regarding ..., since term 'word' conjures a destructive image of ...

EXAMPLE:

Cataclysmically portraying that 'studying VCE is like bleeding every single day in a world of enemies', Mariam establishes a war-like battlefield regarding the struggles of VCE and exams, since the term 'bleeding' conjures a destructive image of blood loss due to the assessments.

Utopic Imagery

Utopically presenting that '...',

(author) euphorically highlights ... given the word '...' creates an image of ...

EXAMPLE:

Utopically presenting that 'doing pushups will make you fly above the sky', Zohair euphorically highlights the power of exercise on the mind of individuals given the word 'fly' creates an image of elevation.

Dystopic Imagery

In dystopically presenting that '...',

(author) despondently / melancholically underscores... given the term '...' imbues connotations of ...

EXAMPLE:

In dystopically presenting that 'chocolate is the silent zombie that murders innocent people', Lebdeh despondently underscores the dangers of consuming junk food given the term 'silent zombie' imbues connotations of destruction and annihilation.

Bold Word/Title

Given 'hello' in 'hello there' is emboldened, X seeks to visually bombard _ to emphasise ... (the point being made)

EXAMPLE:

Given 'dangerous' in 'broadmeadows is dangerous' is emboldened, X seeks to visually bombard the parents who care for their children's safety to emphasise that Broadmeadows is a location to avoid, as the crime rates have increased rapidly over 30% in the last 3 years.

Anecdotal Evidence

Anecdotally explaining that she has 'travelled through the mountains earlier today', the author seeks to establish a rapport with mountain goers, since they are '...'

EXAMPLE:

Anecdotally explaining that she has 'saw a child buy a sushi roll and apply soy sauce from a cute little plastic fish', Walker seeks to establish a rapport with parents who are curious about the workings of their children at school, since they resonate with the observations of the teacher.

Dichotomy

The writer seeks to dichotomise the matter between those with contemporary mindsets who rely upon 'studying every day' and those only open to 'studying once every month', positioning the boys to view the latter as ignorant and conservatively minded.

Statistics

Here, the empirical statistic of '50%' unequivocally undermines/elevates the importance of studying daily given individuals – who are less informed of studying - are positioned to ...

Tonal Shift

1. By morphing into an angered tone, 'I hate you' attempts to show the author is scathingly rebuking a child's use of technology.
2. Here, 'hate' in 'I hate you' has undertones of anger as the author is scathingly rebuking a child's use of technology.

Connotations

Given 'hate' imbues strong connotations of..., the author seeks to evoke a sense of...

EXAMPLE:

Given the term 'hate' in 'hate people who discriminate' imbues strong connotations of discrimination, Hamza seeks to evoke a sense of unwavering concern in parents who may dislike individuals who belittle others and fear for the mental wellbeing of their children, prompting them to condemn such behaviour among young adults that stems from social media.

Image Analysis

- Positioning of the subject (prominent in the foreground or miniscule in the background) ...
- Here, the compositionally dominating image of...
- By positioning X in the foreground/background/centre/side of the type of image, author attempts to establish dominance/inferiority of X in issue.
- The stark contrast between the darker/lighter foreground and the darker/lighter in the image employed by the writer serves to arouse an awareness/sensation of ...
- Colours (dull being emotionless, bright being full of joy etc., contrast between cold and hot colours)
- By deploying ominous/propitious type of colours the author accentuates the target emotion of the issue
- Facial expressions and body language: Through X's prominent/contorted facial expression/body language, the author seeks to visually reflect the emotions of the issue

EXAMPLE:

The image showcases a drone at a compositionally dominating angle as such, it sets a focal point on the potential destruction that can be imposed on Byways caused by misuse of drones.

Further amplified through by the grey atmosphere of the patchy skies and dull grass, the image is presented in the ominous colour scheme of black and white that pointedly highlights the potential concerns and repercussions to come for the future of Byways. Bandle portrays this image to prompt councillors and residents of Byways who are preservative of their property to take caution and diligence towards using such devices.

Asyndeton

Asyndetically highlighting that 'chocolates are better, brownies are worse, fruits are superior', Shaima rhythmically establishes ...

Semantic Field

Semantic field: a group of words connected by a shared idea or concept.

By constructing a semantic field of [idea] with the terms '[word 1]', '[word 2]' and '[word 3]', (author) underscores ..., positioning ...

EXAMPLE:

By constructing a semantic field of destruction with the terms 'damaged', 'shattered' and 'broken', Wargan cumulatively underscores the ominous repercussions of retail crime, positioning local shoppers to reject passive bystanding.

Auxesis

Auxesis: the deliberate arrangement of words or ideas in increasingly forceful order.

Auxetically escalating from '[least intense]' to '[more intense]' and finally '[most intense]', (author) progressively intensifies ..., positioning ...

EXAMPLE:

Auxetically escalating from 'uncomfortable' to 'unsafe' and finally 'dangerous', Wargan progressively intensifies the consequences of unchecked retail crime, positioning local shoppers to fear that continued passivity will progressively threaten their community.

Syntactic Parallelism

Syntactic parallelism refers to the repetition of a word at the beginning of 2 or more consecutive sentences.

Syntactically parallelising the repeated opening '[word]' in '[sentence 1]' and '[sentence 2]', (author) repetitiously underscores ..., positioning ...

EXAMPLE:

Syntactically parallelising the repeated opening 'we' in 'We report the incident. We support the worker' and 'We must protect the community', Wargan repetitiously underscores the collective responsibility of Roxburgh Park residents, creating rhythmic insistence that mobilise them to view safe intervention as a shared duty.